5-Day Observance Of Battle Of Gettysburg And July Fourth To Open With Test Run June 30th

The general committee in charge of the Gettysburg fire department's community observance of the 86th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg gave final approval to plans for the five-day celebration opening a week from Thursday which is expected to be the largest since the 75th reunion of the Blue and Gray here in 1938, and which is expected will attract thousands of visitors to Gettysburg.

The program will open on Thursday, June 30, with a test run by county fire companies, ending in Center square, and a demonstration by the Gettysburg fire department. It will close with a huge parade of military organizations, fire companies, civic, fraternal and patriotic groups and floats Monday afternoon, July 4.

One of the highlights of the program will be a concert by the Army Ground Forces band at the high school football field on Sunday afternoon, July 3 and an address by General Jacob L. Devers, ground forces commander. The program will open at 2 o'clock, and will be broadcast by at least two radio stations, and possibly over a national hookup.

To Award Prize

Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college, will give the invocation and the closing prayer will be given by Msgr. Patrick F. McOee, pastor of the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary church, McSherrystown. A bandstand will be erected near the east goal posts and 400 additional seats provided which will bring the seating capacity to 3,000. In case of rain, arrangements have been made to hold the concert and Gen. Devers' address in the Majestic theater.

County fire companies will set their watches by radio time signal, and have their trucks at their respective borough lines, ready to begin the test run at 7 p. m. June 30. Prizes will be awarded for the fastest time made to the square, computed on a mileage basis.

Demonstration In Square

Gettysburg firemen will hook up three pumps in Center square and give a demonstration of fighting fires. A demonstration will also be given by the crew of the aerial ladder truck, which has been practicing or several weeks for this occasion.

Air Force jet planes and bombers will provide the highlight of the Saturday afternoon program. They will swoop over the town at 2 p. m. in a display of the nation's aerial might. This will be Air Force day, and an Air Force display mounted on a truck, from the Mid-dietown Air Base, will be here.

Sunday Luncheon

Gen. Devers and a number of aides and high-ranking military officers and others will be guests at a luncheon at the Hotel Gettysburg preceding the Sunday afternoon concert. Among the guests will be Miss Catherine Devers, of York, sister of the general.

The parade on July 4 which will climax the five-day celebration will form in the west end of town and move promptly at 1:30 o'clock. Col. Alfred E. McKenney, professor of military science and tactics at Gettysburg college, will be the grand marshal. He will choose his own aides. Exact route of the parade has not been definitely determined. The Army Ground Forces band will have the place of honor leading the parade, and indications point to dozens of other bands and drum corps in the line of march.

Military Display

Troops from the 104th Mechanized Cavalry, a large number of armored cars, half-tracks, jeeps, ducks and other equipment from Letterkenny, and other military organizations will swell the ranks of dozens of marching fire companies with their bands, drum corps and trucks. A large number of floats will also be included in the parade.

$1,000 Parade Prizes

Among the fire companies which have accepted invitations to participate are two from Waynesboro, and companies from Mont Alto, Hanover and McConnellsburg. Richard Cole, chairman of the parade committee, reported that many others had also signified their intention of parading. A prize list totaling more than $1,000 has been provided for the parade.

In connection with the parade, the committee decided Monday night that there will be no drills by parade units along the line of march. This action was taken to insure a smooth-moving parade without long gaps. Fire trucks will not be allowed to blow their sirens.

Block Parties

A block party will be held on East Middle street in front of the engine house each night except Sunday and on Saturday and Monday afternoons. Music will be provided for dancing in the evening. Dance bands have been engaged as follows: Thursday night, 8:30 to 11:30 p. m., Harry Oyster and Paul Ecker; Friday night, 8:30 to 11:30 p. m., Reginald Dunkinson; Saturday night, 7 p. m., "until," the Buckboard Ramblers; Monday night, 7:30 to 11:30 p. m., Bill Jones.

Legion Asks More Lincoln Stamps

The Albert J. Lentz Post, 202, American Legion, adopted a resolution at its regular meeting Monday evening, requesting the United States Post Office department to authorize a second printing of the Lincoln-Gettysburg commemorative postage stamp.

Sixty million Lincoln-Gettysburg stamps were printed and placed on sale last November 19, the 85th anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address. The Gettysburg supply of the stamps was exhausted within a few weeks and no additional stamps are available.

The local Legion is asking the Post Office department to print an additional supply.

SCHOOLMEN GET POINT OF VIEW OF U.S. INDUSTRY

Industry, the schools, the Grange and labor unions all agreed today that what each wants to develop basically is a person who gets to work on time and does a full day's labor.

At least that was indicated in discussions held this morning in connection with the annual Gettysburg Secondary Education Workshop held by the Pennsylvania Branch of the National Association of Secondary School Principals at Gettysburg college. Educators from Adams, Franklin and York counties are attending the sessions, which began Monday and will conclude Wednesday.

John F. Padden, secretary of the Manufacturers' association, York, spoke on "Industry Views the Secondary School Program" at the meeting this morning.

Desirable Characteristics
He listed "use of full skills, use of consideration and care, seeking to improve oneself, elimination of waste of time, effort and materials" as the most desirable characteristics sought by industry when it hires high school graduates.

He urged schools to train the youngsters to "put forth a full day's effort. We get many who work well for six hours out of the day, but they steal the remaining two hours from the company. They are late, or they spend too much time in other activities. The schools must train the youngster to put in a full day's work in school so he will have the habit of putting in a full day's work in life."

Schoolmen agreed with Padden in discussions and urged Padden or other representatives of industry to come to the schools "to tell this to the youngsters. Maybe they will listen to industry while they think principals are old fashioned," as one schoolman put it.

Padden said industry is paying more attention to training foremen (Please Turn to Page 3)

GRADUATE FROM LEHIGH MONDAY

George Taylor Raffensperger, Jr., 200, South Stratton street, and Charles Richard Culp, 360 York street, were among the nearly 600 Lehigh university students who received degrees at the university's 81st Commencement exercises Monday in Eugene Gifford Grace hall on the Lehigh campus.

Raffensperger was awarded the Bachelor of Science degree in Industrial Engineering and Culp a B.S. degree in Engineering Physics.

Raffensperger was president of Phi Sigma Kappa and a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers while Culp belonged to the Physics society and played varsity basketball as well as taking part in intramurals.

Summer Gets Off To "Hot" Start

Summer made an impressive start this afternoon at 1:15 o'clock with a temperature of 91 degrees, the highest since early May. A generally overcast sky and a breeze helped hold the mercury to that figure.

Last night was the warmest experienced here so far this year. The low for the night was 71 degrees with high humidity adding to the discomfort of many who found sleep difficult.

Monday's high here was 89 degrees, equalling the previous high mark for this month.

D. M. SWOPE IS INSTALLED AS HEAD OF LIONS

Attorney Donald M. Swope, son of Attorney J. Donald Swope who 25 years ago served as the first president of the Gettysburg Lions club, was installed Monday evening as the new president of the local service organization. He succeeds D. E. Hess, who has headed the Lions for the last year.

The formal installation of President Swope and the other officers elected last week was conducted by Dr. L. C. Keefe, a past president and chairman of the Lions education committee.

Highlighting annual reports of standing committees of the club was a statement that the Lions have spent $2,330 from their charity fund for community projects in the last 12 months. Largest items were $1,000 to the first campaign of the Community Chest; $500 to the Recreation Association; $220 to the Warner hospital; $100 for glasses and other aid for blind persons or those with bad vision; $50 to the Freedom Train and sums for the Red Cross, A. EARLY COUNTY HISTORY TOLD TO ROTARIANS

Little known facts about Adams county were outlined Monday evening by J. Melchior Sheads, president of the county historical society at a meeting of the local Rotary club held at the YWCA.

Sheads pointed out that:

"Adams county once was a 'center' of the silk worm raising industry. In the 1830's one third of the farms in the county and about as many farms in other counties of southern Pennsylvania began to raise silk worms and the craze lasted for several years. Samuel Sloan had 10,000 worms working for him on June 16, 1839. The Adams County Silk Society was formed on November 25, 1839. A description of the industry written in the 1830's said that silk worms feeding in the attics of Adams county homes were so numerous they sounded like horses crunching oats. Morus multicaulis, the Japanese mulberry tree, was planted by the thousands in the county, and farmers found that one pound of silk would sell for as much as one barrel of flour and could be more easily produced.

Named for John Adams
"Gettysburg's carriage industry, which started about 1817, grew to such success that by 1831 there were 11 carriage-making shops in Gettysburg alone, giving employment to 130 workers and doing $40,000 worth of business a year. The industry lasted until the Civil war wiped out the southern market on which the local industry thrived.

"What is now Adams county was part of Chester county, one of the original counties set up by Penn. for 47 years; it was part of Lancaster county for 20 years and a part of York county for 51 years before it became a separate county 149 years ago.

"The county was named Adams in honor of John Adams, who was president when the county came into existence January 22, 1800.

"Five Adams county streams drain into the Susquehanna and seven drain into the Potomac.

"As late as 1758 there were Indians trading in this area. Samuel Reynolds, a merchant and trader living in Cumberland township recorded the names of 19 Indians with whom he traded in 1758. One of them bore the name 'Robin Hood.'

"The Jesuits who established themselves at Conewago as early as 1700 were there on mission duty to the Indians, having followed the Conewago Indians, whom they had converted in Maryland, north. The Conewago Indians later moved on to Canada and there is a Conewago creek in Canada, just as in Adams county. The first permanent white settler was Andrew Schreiber who settled in what is now Conewago township in 1734.

PIONEER CREW IS PREPARING BOY SCOUT CAMP

A "pioneer" crew of staff members and scouts left Monday for the Memorial camp of the York-Adams Boy Scout area near Dillsburg to prepare the camp for use by an estimated 750 scouts during the six week summer season of formal camping activities which starts Saturday. During the remainder of the year camping at the establishment is on a troop level, with practically all troops in the two-county area utilizing the place at various times.

David M. Dickson, Hanover, formerly of Gettysburg, who has charge of commissary for the camp this season said he has made preparations to serve 21,000 meals during the formal camping season. The 750 scouts expected will spend 1,000 "scout weeks" at the camp, that is, many will spend more than one week in camp during the current period. Last year 550 scouts spent 701 "scout-weeks" at the establishment.

Largest single troop representation by percentage scheduled for the camp during the formal period will be that of the Paradise Protective troop. Twenty-nine members of that organization will be in the camp at one time.

POLLUTION IN COUNTY STREAM KILLS FISH; ACT TO GUARD TOWN

Stream pollution has killed hundreds of carp, suckers, catfish and minnows in the south branch of the Conewago creek, from Plum run to its junction with the Big Conewago, a distance of about ten miles, according to John S. Ogden, York, state fish warden.

Water from the creek is used by residents of New Oxford for drinking, household and industrial uses. At the impounding dam of the New Oxford Water company the water was reported a dark color with a pale green scum.

Dr. Samuel A. Kirkpatrick, president of the New Oxford health board, said measures were being taken at the filter plant to make the water chemically pure for human consumption.

Warns Residents

Dr. Kirkpatrick today issued a warning to residents of New Oxford to boil their water used for drinking purposes during the present emergency.

He said the addition of extra chemicals had reduced the bacterial count of the water to a point where it was safe for human consumption, but that boiling should be done as an extra precaution.

The New Oxford borough council this morning held a special meeting and authorized the employment of extra labor to remove dead fish from the banks of the creek, from the water and along the edge of the impounding dam.

Trace Source Of Trouble

Ogden said he made an investigation Sunday and took samples of the water which were sent to Harrisburg for analysis. He said the pollution had removed oxygen from the water, killing the fish.

The source of the pollution, according to Chester A. Eckbert, Hanover borough manager, was traced by Sanitary Engineer Harry DeWitt, Harrisburg, state health department, to the Hanover municipal sewage treatment plant and thence to the D. E. Winebrenner canning plant in Hanover.

Robert E. Winebrenner, plant manager, said the company was notified of the pollution Monday. Representatives of the State Health department recommended the addition of sodium nitrate to the discharge from the plant, and Winebrenner said this was started Monday afternoon.

Water Was Low

The low water in the creeks and small flow which is not enough to carry off or dilute the pollution was said to be responsible for the death of the fish.

Ogden said there were no solids from the canning plant in the water. Not only is the water discolored but its odor is offensive, Ogden added. Lawrence Bevenour, manager of the New Oxford Water company, said "everything possible is being done at the filter plant to treat the water for human consumption." In addition to the use of alum and lime, Bevenour said, charcoal is being used to help remove the discoloration and chlorine is being added before the water is pumped into the community system.

Plant Overloaded

The Hanover sewage plant, erected in 1928, was designed to handle 1-400,000 gallons of sewage every 24 hours. Eckbert said that between 200,000 and 300,000 gallons daily is only partly treated and then bypassed into Plum creek, a tributary of the south branch of the Conewago.

Ogden said that the water from McSherrystown to Plum run is clear, and is clear again below New Oxford, where the south branch enters the Big Conewago. Pollution has occurred in previous years, he said, but has not been as noticeable because of higher water in the streams. Recent rains farther west have not raised stream levels in this affected area, Ogden said.

Ask Court Review Of License Refusal

The Circuit Court at Frederick was asked Saturday to review the decision of County License Commissioner G. Cleveland Trout in the case of Richard R. Rosenstiel and Louis Cooper, of Emmitsburg.

The commissioner Friday denied Rosenstiel and Cooper a Class A off sale beer, wine and liquor license in Emmitsburg district, holding the population of the district does not justify the granting of the license and present provisions are adequate for accommodation of the public.

Through their attorneys, Benjamin B. Rosenstock, William M. Storm and Alton Y. Bennett, the petitioners claimed in their appeal to the Circuit Court that the commissioner's decision was against the public interest, arbitrary, unsupported by any substantial evidence and unreasonable. No immediate date for a hearing was set.

nently in Adams county, but used it to hunt, for the place once was a natural paradise for wild game. Penn did not get a clear title to what is now Adams county from the Indians until October 11, 1736. The Indians had two quarries here, one on the southeast slopes of Mt. Newman and the other on the northwest slope of Jacks mountain. The Indians also had a burial ground located near Round Top.

"Adams county was once the frontier of Colonial Pennsylvania. In 1756 there were three forts and a number of block houses in the county and there were four raids by Indians into the county during the French and Indian war. The raids occurred between 1757 and 1765. As late as 1790 inhabitants of the upper end of the county were in the habit of putting out fires at dusk so as not to attract Indians.

"Dr. Samuel Agnew, a Gettysburg physician, in 1804 wrote the first paper on vaccination published in the country, Michael Jacobs, of the Gettysburg college faculty, in 1866 invented the process of preserving fruits by canning."

SEE EVEN FIGHT FOR HEAVY TITLE

Chicago, June 21 (AP)—For the first time since Joe Louis cornered the heavyweight boxing market 12 years ago and whipped all comers, a real even-Stephen contest for the title has shaped up in the Ezzard Charles-Joe Walcott scrap tomorrow night.

Although the bout has been dubbed the "slim pickins" heavyweight championship, it sincerely presents two fired-up contestants who are evenly matched.

Louis, before he retired and tossed up his crown for the Charles-Walcott winner, always was an overwhelming favorite who usually came through right on schedule in cut-and-dried fashion.

About the nearest he came to being dismantled was by Walcott in December of 1947. Jersey Joe floored him and carried the attack through 15 rounds only to lose a decision which still is mighty controversial.

Walcott, the 35-year-old family man from Camden, N. J., and 27-year-old Charles, unmarried Cincinnati slugger who has lost only four times in eight years, are expected to enter the ring at odds of about 6-5, take your pick.

A definite swing to Walcott has been reported with the present odds dropping from 7-5 to 13-10 for Ezzard, indicating Jersey Joe's late support probably will send the two Negro heavies together at even money.

NATIONAL LOOP RACE TIGHTENS AS CARDS WIN

By RALPH RODEN

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

"Staley, the giant killer"—that's what St. Louis fans are calling Gerald Lee Staley, 25-year-old broad shouldered righthander of the St. Louis Cardinals today.

Staley pitched the Cards to within a half-game of the National league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers last night, beating the Giants, 7-2, in St. Louis. The Dodgers were idle.

The triumph was Staley's fifth of the season and his third over the once powerful Giants who occupy fifth place.

Braves Win In 9th

The Cards nicked Monte Kennedy for a run in the first and drove the young lefty to cover with four more in the third. Doubles by Red Schoendienst and Nippy Jones plus Eno Slaughter's triple featured the up-rising.

Boston's third place Braves crawled to within two games of the Dodgers, edging the Chicago Cubs, 3-2, in the majors' lone day game. Elbie Fletcher singled home Ed Stanky from second base in the ninth inning with the winning run. Vern Bickford went all the way to gain his ninth victory. Hank Sauer accounted for Chicago's runs with an eighth inning homer.

The fourth place Philadelphia Phillies, behind the seven-hit pitching of Russ Meyer, turned back the Pirates, 7-1, in Pittsburgh.

Phils And A's Win

The New York Yankees grabbed a tighter hold on the American league lead, increasing their advantage to four games over the runner-up Detroit Tigers. The Yanks beat the St. Louis Browns, 4-1, in the stadium while the Tigers lost, 6-1, to the Red Sox in Boston.

The third place Philadelphia Athletics inched to within a half game of Detroit, beating the world champion Cleveland Indians, 4-1, in the Quaker city. Dick Fowler granted the Indians only four hits in posting his fifth straight triumph and sixth of the season.

Chicago ended a five game losing streak as lefty Bob Kuzava pitched a 5-4 triumph over the Senators in Washington.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

The Allentown Cardinals turned back Wilmington 8 to 1 last night (Monday) and swept into a fourth place tie with Lancaster in the Interstate league.

The fast moving Cardinals completed a three game sweep of the series with the pace setting Wilmington team as Jim Duffus received credit for his fourth win of the season against two defeats.

Second place Trenton crawled to within three games of first place by whipping Lancaster 7 to 6. Right hander Don Robertson hung up his ninth victory of the season and second in three days although he needed help. Lancaster rallied to erase a 6-0 deficit, but a walk, stolen base and error gave Trenton the winning marker in the seventh.

Hagerstown and Harrisburg divided a doubleheader with Hagerstown taking the opener 4 to 0 and Harrisburg the nightcap 9 to 6. York completed a four game series sweep by routing last place Sunbury in both ends of a twin-bill 4 to 2 and 6 to 2. Lefty Bill Stratton tossed a three hitter for the winners in the opener and Chuck Fedoris hurled the after-piece victory.

New York, June 21 (AP)—Current Events: "Promoter" Joe Louis passed up a scheduled trip to the Joe Walcott and Ezzard Charles training camps the other day because Don Newcombe was pitching for the Dodgers in Chicago.

Probably was a smart idea. . . . Frank Kovacs and Don Budge, supposedly arguing about their seedings in the pro tennis championships, teamed up together in the doubles.

THE HEATH'S BLUE

The Bluefield, W. Va., Blue-Grays of the Appalachian league suffered their first shutout of the season the other night at the hands of the Welch Miners.

The next day Jeff Heath, who is acting as touring coach for the Braves farm system, came to town and gave the athletes a short batting lesson.

That night Bluefield belted Welch by the football score of 26 to 6. . . . Bluefield never will complain that too many Jeffs spoil the broth.

Washington, June 21 (AP)—Judith Coplon testified today that she destroyed a manuscript for a book she was writing rather than to have it fall into the hands of the FBI.

She told the jury of eight men and four women trying her on espionage charges that she "already had been held up to enough scorn" and did not want the FBI to get hold of the manuscript. Miss Coplon contends that some of the papers found in her purse when she was arrested were for use in connection with the book.

Today's Talk

THE CARTOONIST

The power and influence of the newspaper cartoonist has long been a potent factor in influencing and shaping public opinion. Among the great ones of the past may be mentioned Thomas Nast, Bush, Davenport, Johnson, Morris, W. A. Rogers, and among our more recent ones, Jay Darling, Rollin Kirby, Fitzgerald, Rube Goldberg, John McCutcheon, and J. H. Donahey, the latter for 49 years the outstanding cartoonist for the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

I wish to pay a tribute to my friend Donahey, whom I knew for forty years. He was a fine artist and a keen thinker, and one of the most lovable men whom I have ever known. He died a few days ago, and left a void in the hearts of thousands of his friends. He had great ability, but was most modest and kindly at all times. He lived a full life and enriched the lives of all who knew him. He had no use for sham and pretense. His distinctive cartoons made people think and he touched them with humor, but he was never brutal or unkind in them.

Donahey's interests were wide and varied. You always left him with something learned from his vast store of accumulated knowledge and experience, and to be with him was to talk with him was an event. He was widely read, but he was more an observer, and he saw the simple significance in things and in human beings. Those who knew and loved him will cherish his memory as a rich heritage.

The cartoonist doesn't have the vogue of the comic artist, but he has an importance that the other never has, for he is an interpreter of the higher values of life, and through his human pictorial art gives to the newspaper reader what many a long editorial would miss in seeking to explain a fallacy, or to reveal facts or truths. The cartoonist gets instantaneous reaction to the things he wishes to reveal. You get the story at once, imaged in the brain.

Many of our cartoonists have been powerful crusaders who have done great service in opening the eyes of the people toward wrongs and evils that should be corrected. It was Thomas Nast whose powerful cartoons routed the "Tammany Tiger" of his day. Indeed it was he who created that symbol. More power to these cartoonists of ours!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Places."

Just Folks

WITH GRATITUDE
I saw him on a park bench and I sat Beside him, thinking he might like to chat.
"How goes it?" I inquired. He said: "I'm one
Of whom you should have asked:
'How has it gone?'"
There's very little left, as you can see.
But this I'll say: Life has been good to me."

His face was wrinkled and his hair had grayed.
He had known boyhood, and had loved a maid;
Had wooed and married; for his children toiled;
Many a little wagon wheel he'd oiled;
Played Santa Claus for them about a tree.
"Yes, I can say: Life has been good to me."

"I've had both health and strength my task to do;
Known many joys, and suffered heartaches, too.
I've proudly watched my children as they've grown.
I know the pain of being left alone.
Of birthdays I have lived for eighty-three.
I can't complain. Life has been good to me."

TASK OF FINDING MARKET VALUE OF REAL ESTATE IS NEVER-ENDING

Harrisburg, June 21 (AP)—The task of finding the market value of real estate in Pennsylvania is a never-ending one for the state tax equalization board.

The new agency recently announced that real estate in the Keystone state had a market value of $22,381,745,315 in 1948. This compared with assessed valuations of $8,711,100,068 in the same year.

But even as the announcement was made by the board, its staff already was deep in the job of compiling the data which will be needed next year to determine market values for 1949. It already has assembled information on thousands of sales of real estate this year in every one of the state's 2,500 school districts.

Uniformity Important
At the same time, Chairman John O'Neil emphasized that the board has a different job from that of local assessors. He said that the Legislature directed the board to determine the market value of property but that assessments are based on actual value. Market and actual values, he reminded, are not always the same.

"As long as assessments are uniform, that is the important thing," O'Neil said. The board's studies, however, disclosed that assessments varied greatly from district to district and county to county.

So far only 10 school districts have indicated they will appeal from the board's findings. In addition, the board has received a number of informal protests, some from assessors.

Extensive Studies
O'Neil said most of them have resulted from misunderstanding of the board's functions but that it is "ready to sit down with any one and go over its figures."

The market values certified by the board are based on months of work by its technical staff. One division has studied assessments figures in each county breaking down the figures to classify them as to types of properties—residential, commercial, industrial, farm, natural resources and others. From this, it obtains the relative proportion for each county.

At the same time, another division receives monthly reports on actual real estate transfers, along with the assessed valuation of each property. The tax stamps give the board its information on the sales price—all sales with only one tax stamp are discarded—and the assessments give the key to the type of sale.

Important To Schools
Thus if the assessment is more than the sales price, the board investigates to determine if a family transfer is involved or whether a mortgage was assumed that does not appear in the sales price. Family sales or any other unusual transactions are not considered in the board's tabulations.

The board's research staff then goes to work using the assessment classifications and the sales reports and field investigations to calculate a market value for all the real estate in any particular district.

And these figures each year will provide the basis for the amounts of state aid given individual school districts.

Washington, June 21 (AP)—Two national surveys agree the nation soon may have 5,000,000 or more jobless, but they disagree on what happens next.

In reports published over the weekend: The Public Affairs Institute warned: "Nothing in sight indicates a halt in unemployment trends."

CHINESE PLANES BOMB BRITISH SHIP; FOUR HURT

By FRED HAMPSON

Shanghai, June 21 (AP)—Chinese nationalist planes today damaged the British freighter Anchises, injuring four crewmen. The war planes also fired a Shell Oil company warehouse.

Three fighter-bombers staged the raid. It was the second attack on Shanghai in 24 hours. The 8,000-ton Blue Funnel lines Anchises was beached.

In the bomb-started fire at the Shell warehouse 20,000 tons of kerosene and other petroleum products were destroyed.

The raid resulted in the diversion of several foreign ships from this port, normally one of the world's busiest. All foreign shipping is likely to stop immediately.

Announce Blockade
A Nationalist blockade was announced yesterday. It was to begin on June 26. Communist ports from Foochow, south of here, 1,200 miles northward into Manchuria were named.

The Anchises was hit just after she turned from the Yangtze into the Whangpoo river.

Capt. J. E. Watson said a bomb struck her first. Then the same plane or another turned and strafed the Anchises. Watson said there was no question in his mind that the attack was directed at the ship. He said the British flag was plainly visible.

Most seriously injured among crewmen was Deck Boy T. Edwards. He was hurt in the bomb blast. Fourth Officer T. D. Mother-sill, Jr., Electrician McPhail (first name not available) and Seaman J. Hamilton were less seriously injured in the strafing attack.

30-Minute Raid
The bomb exploded on the port side between the engine room and the number four hold. The vessel developed a quick list. She will be unable to proceed without repairs, the captain said.

The Anchises entered from Kobe with 700 tons of machinery and textiles. She was to go to Hong Kong with seven passengers, including two Chinese, when she left Shanghai.

The Shell warehouse, a few miles upstream, was hit by another bomb from the raiders. There were no casualties reported at the warehouse. The raid lasted about 30 minutes.

DIPLOMACY IN SECRET HELD TO BE 'DANGEROUS'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Some of the American correspondents who have been covering the Big Four Foreign Ministers' Conference in Paris have voiced dissatisfaction over the U. S. State Department's arrangements for supplying the American version of developments.

Most of the information available regarding Western plans is said to have come from British and French sources. The Russians, of course, don't talk.

American diplomatic circles exalt freedom of the press and subscribe to a fully informed public. Despite this some high diplomatic quarters long have pursued the idea that if important problems can be worked out secretly there will be a better chance of success.

Remembers Balfour
On the other hand the British, and to some degree the French, always have the latch string out for news-gatherers. London and Paris take a different view than do many American officials, recognizing the propaganda value of presenting the news from their own standpoint.

While the British generally are most liberal in giving information, they are past masters at sidestepping when they want to. One of the cleverest in that line I ever encountered was the late Earl of Balfour, the famous statesman who as foreign secretary issued the historic declaration that Britain would support the creation of a homeland for the Jews in Palestine.

Balfour was a representative at the Versailles Peace conference, and I attended one press conference at which he answered questions for perhaps an hour. He was charming, he was witty, he spoke "freely." Pencils flew like mad as the great man talked.

Much Talk, No News
When the conference was over a young American reporter, who was new at the peace parley, came to me in real distress. The sweat was streaming down his face and his hair was rumpled. "Pardon me," he said, "but would you please tell me if Mr. Balfour said anything at that conference?"

I couldn't help laughing as I told him he could go back to his headquarters with a mind at peace. Mr. Balfour hadn't given up a whisper of information.

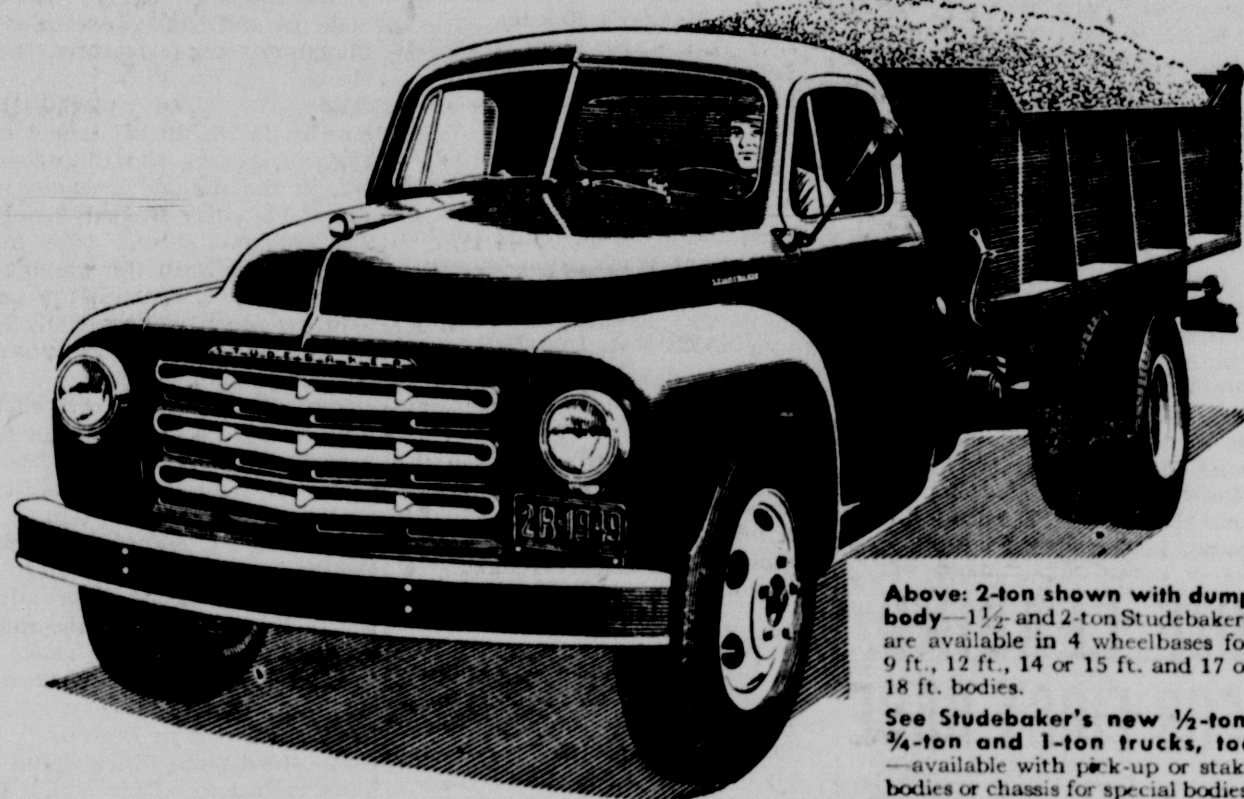

That's one way of evading an issue and it's just as bad, though no worse, than the scheme of maintaining secrecy. Of course every correspondent recognizes that there are times when the authorities have to delay the announcement of delicate news. Broadly speaking, however, experience has demonstrated that secrecy is a bad thing.

In our democracy the government is the servant of the people. That being so, the public is entitled to an exact accounting of the stewardship. The best way to render that accounting is through the news.

Secret diplomacy, barring rare exceptions, is a mighty dangerous thing.

OLD MARSHAL SUMMONED TO LEAD CHINESE

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The government of Nationalist China finally has been strapped on the aging shoulders of the country's oldest war-lord—Marshal Yen Hsi-shan of Shansi province—who has been made premier of what is widely regarded as a "last straw" regime.

From Canton, the great southern metropolis which now is capital comes the grim word that most Nationalists feel if old Yen fails to hold the onrushing Red advance from the north, they will have lost their last chance. The premier, invoking the great fighting spirit of his younger days, has pledged himself to lead what remains of the Nationalist armies in "a fight to the end for independence."

In the background, of course, is Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek who still makes the Nationalist government. If the Nationalists should by chance be able to withstand the Communists, the real leader will be Chiang.

Odds Favor Reds

Do the Nationalists have any prospects at all of standing off the Communists? If you had to wager your last cent on that question, the odds would compel you to bet on the Reds. They already have great reaches of northern China firmly in their grasp.

However, southern China is a vast and difficult area for conquest. Many observers feel that the fighting may continue for years, especially in isolated areas.

And who can say what might grow out of a Civil War of attrition? The very vastness and unwieldiness of China might be enough to stop the Communists from making a complete conquest.

Marshal Yen is one of the most colorful figures among the old war lords. At one time he was vastly rich—the feudal lord over territory about the size of Great Britain.

Famous In 1911

Yen came into power during the Chinese revolution of 1911 which resulted in the overthrow of the Manchu dynasty. He then was a dashing young general of about thirty. Within five years he became known in Shansi as a model "governor" of his 12,000,000 people because he built roads and schools, suppressed bandits and arrested opium dealers. He became vastly rich.

All that "glory" belongs to the past, however. The 68 year old Marshal no longer is that dashing young general of nearly forty years ago. Still, he has a great reputation and his fiery spirit is willing though the flesh is weak. Moreover he long has been a foe of the Communists.

Yen may prove to be a very useful figure-head for the ship of state at this critical juncture. Chiang's preparations to meet the enemy remain obscure. However, as reported in a previous column, the Nationalists are said to be preparing to re-establish their government in the ancient city of Chungking, which was capital during the World War. This would give them quick access to India by air over the notorious wartime "hump."

SCHOOLHOUSES FOR SALE IN PA.

Washington, June 21 (AP)—You say you want to buy a schoolhouse? Or is it a hospital you want? Take your choice. Each variety is for sale in Pennsylvania.

The government disclosed over the week-end it has more than $20,000,000 in schoolhouses, hospitals and waterworks for sale.

Federal Works Administrator Jess Larson said they'll be sold mostly to local school districts and other local government units.

He said they're all revenue producing and were built with federal funds "under the impact of wartime population increases."

Up for sale in Pennsylvania is a hospital at Rochester. That costs $226,377 when it was built.

Also on the block are four schoolhouses. These, plus their initial costs, are: Hopewell township $28,792; Potter township $45,844; Warmminster $115,970, and Chester township $63,575.

State Eagles Hold Annual Election

Pittsburgh, June 21 (AP)—Officers elected at a week-end convention of the Pennsylvania Aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles are headed by President Paul S. Hopper, of Easton. Other officers are: F. J. Schertler, Pittsburgh, vice president; Steven V. Thomas, McKeesport, chairman; John A. McCarthy, Philadelphia, conductor; Maurice Splain, Jr., Oil City, secretary; John J. Monahan, Wilkes-Barre, treasurer; Ernest Ridgeway, Stroudsburg, inside guard; Thomas P. Dugan, Pittsburgh, outside guard.

Trustees are Oliver C. Rice, Meadville; James J. Pujia, Conneville; Carl W. Depp, Punxsutawney, and Joseph Mahoney, Coatesville.

BABICH IS GIVEN LIFE TERM FOR MURDERING GIRL

Milwaukee, June 21 (P)—Nineteen-year old Milton Babich was whisked off to Waupun prison last night just 45 minutes after a jury labeled him the murderer of his wife's kid sister.

His bride, Kathleen, who is expecting a baby in mid-July, screamed out, "lies, lies—the police are telling lies," as the jury announced its verdict: Guilty of murder in the first degree.

Babich did not change expression at the verdict. He glanced over his shoulder at Kathleen. He rose, stood before the bench and declared, "I am not guilty of first degree murder."

May Serve Only 11 Years

Municipal Judge Herbert J. Stefes then sentenced him to the Wisconsin state prison at Waupun "at hard labor for the rest of your natural life."

But under Wisconsin law, he will be eligible for parole after 20 years, or with time off for good behavior, after 11 years and three months.

His sentence was pronounced just three months to the day after the weighted body of Patricia Birmingham, 16, was fished from the Milwaukee river by firemen searching for a suicide victim.

Brief Deliberation

Kathleen broke into hysterical screams and was comforted by the defendant's older brother, Victor. Both glared at Detective Lawrence Papke, who was instrumental in obtaining a statement from the youth. Babich was not permitted to see his wife after the verdict was announced at 9:49 p. m. (CST).

Milton told the jury that he picked Patricia up on her way home from school last February 10. As they sat in his father's car he showed her a gun to frighten her so she wouldn't tattle that Kathleen was pregnant. He said she picked it up and it went off when he grabbed for it. He became frightened, tied a concrete building block to her feet and dropped her body in the river. She had been shot twice through the head.

The 10 men and two women jurors began deliberating at 8:04 p. m. and reached a verdict at 9:19 p. m.

Get Good Report On Health Program

Harrisburg, June 21 (P)—The commonwealth's school health program received its report card Mon.—and the marks were all high.

The state Health Department reported that more than 873,000 school children in the state were given medical and dental examinations in the past school term. Nearly 2,000 physicians, 1,500 dentists and more than 1,300 nurses.

The program was carried on under the 1945 school health law which requires all children, teachers and school employees to undergo examinations at least once every two years.

It is too early to give an accurate figure on follow-up care, said Dr. Norris W. Vaux, state health secretary. The figures show, however, that there was a drop in the number of children reported with remediable defects. The decline ranged from five to 15 per cent compared to two years ago.

Colorado Springs, Col., June 21 (P)—A freshman democratic governor—Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois—said Mon. that all government costs too much and the states had better set their own houses in order before quarreling about Federal aid.

Stevenson, who has gained mention as a democratic presidential possibility in 1952, told a reporter he doesn't agree with some of his governors' conference colleagues in demanding greater control over the spending of U. S. money.

WON'T RAISE TAXES

Washington, June 21 (P)—Congress will not vote higher taxes this session in the opinion of Senator Martin (R.-Pa.). However, unless there is a cut in government spending a tax boost may become necessary next year, Martin said Sunday day in the first of what he plans to be a series of bi-weekly radio broadcasts. The talks, transcribed, will be over more than 60 Pennsylvania stations.

Follansbee, W. Va., June 21 (P)—A man and his three-year-old twin daughters were burned to death near here early Mon. when a fire destroyed the attic of their home. Dead were Norman Long, 38, and Elda Mae Long and Estella Marie Long of Hooverson Heights near Follansbee. Long's wife, Anna, escaped with a minor facial burn.

elected; vice presidents, Mrs. Evelyn Chrimer, St. Joseph's parish, Bonneville; secretary, Miss Mary Clare Overbaugh, McSherrystown, re-elected, and treasurer, Mrs. Bernardine A. Sterner, Annunciation parish, McSherrystown.

The Rev. Father Topper addressed the group on "The Influence of Women in the World." He stressed the importance of their work as leaders in the world and in the home. "Many responsibilities are placed upon them," said Father Topper, "and much depends on the training given to the ones entrusted to their care in the cause of Christ." The meeting was closed with prayers for "Vocations." Later a basket picnic was held in the grove.

Several hundred people attended the closing evening's program of the Littlestown Fish and Game association carnival on the Littlestown playground, on Monday night. The carnival was originally scheduled to close on Saturday night, but because of two nights of rain, it was carried over until Monday night. Entertainment was furnished by the Littlestown Men's chorus under the direction of L. Robert Snyder and Miss Shirley M. Hawk as pianist. The chorus had originally been scheduled to sing last Thursday night, when the carnival had to be called off on account of rain. Included in the numbers presented by the chorus were: "Oklahoma," "Volga Boatman," "Old Aunt Jemina," "My Heart Stood Still," "Fifty Cents," "A Fellow Needs a Girl," "Round," "All Through the Night," "Onward Christian Soldiers," "Vive L'Amour," "Drink to Me Only," "Whiffenpoof Song" and "If I Loved You."

Award Prizes
At the close of the carnival, the following prizes were awarded: First, $25 in cash; second, 100 pounds of sugar; third, one hundred pounds of sugar; fourth, a five dollar grocery order; fifth, one case of corn; sixth, one case of peas and seventh, one case of tomatoes. W. E. Stites was general chairman of this carnival.

CATTLE—Fresh cattle receipts estimated 60 head held from last week, but closing trading with moderately less than the number marketed here a week ago and 33 per cent smaller than the count for the same day in 1948. However, fresh receipts augmented by about 60 head held from last week. Included in the receipts were about 20 head of slaughter steers, and the equal number of loads of stock cattle. Very few heifers were on hand.

Several out-of-town buyers present in addition to the usual supply of local operators but trading was slow on the whole throughout the session and this helped to keep the receipts were relatively small at most principal mid-Western terminal markets also.

Grained-on-the-grass and dried steers formed the bulk of steer supply and met first action. Prices unevenly steady to 50 cents lower, with most decline on grass-fat and grained-in-grass offerings. Small lot of choice 803-pound yearling steers, with most decline on grass-fat and grained-in-grass offerings. $26.85-27; bulk medium and good, $23-25.25, including grained-on-grass $23.50 down few lots of common and low-medium, mostly straight grassers, $21-22.50.

Trading very uneven in the cow department and prices anywhere from 25 cents to $1 lower, compared with late last week. Old head good young cows on the heels, $21, but most of the good cows $19; few mixed lots of medium and good, $18-18.50; common and medium, $16-18, and canners and cutters, $13.50-16.

Bulls cleared slowly and showed declines, 50c-1; an individual good beef bull, $22.50 as top in that department; most of the good sausage, $19.50-21.50, with only old head noted to $12.75; common and medium sausage under 1,000 pounds, $17.50-19.

Bulk of stock-cattle supply consisted of common and medium under 700 pounds; dealings very slow and prices unevenly steady to as much as $1 lower few medium and good 475-pound stock calves, $25; several lots and loads of mixed inferior, common and medium, $18-21.75; large share
